NISI O VAAIGA I MALUA

PEACEBUILDING INTENSIVE - FIJI: 01-20 AUG

As its name suggests, the Pacific Peacebuilding Training Intensive lived up to its name, as being an Intensive. Three courses were run in sequence over the three weeks (one course per week), and this involved 40hrs/week for a total of 120hrs in order to successfully satisfy the requirements for the completion of the intensive. At times there were sessions run at night as there just were not enough time-slots during the day sessions, to cover all material within the syllabus. This intensive was organised by the following groups: (i) Pacific Theological College (PTC); (ii) Pacific Centre for Peace building (PCP); and (iii) God's Pacific People (GPP). The above-mentioned groups invited participants from all over the Pacific region, to discuss, to dialogue, and to learn methods, skills, and insights as to how to instil peace amidst the many conflicts in our local communities/churches and in our home countries. There were thirty-four (34) participants in total that represented the following home countries - Tonga, Solomon Islands, Papua New Guinea, Vanuatu, West Papua, Fiji and Samoa. The most number of participants came from the host country Fiji with about fifteen (15), and the least number of participants made their way over from Tonga and Samoa (two representatives from each).

Many insights and tools were learnt from this intensive. One main point for reflection - Conflict is natural, and is to be expected. Conflict can be positive, or negative. The deciding factor for any conflict, is how we react and deal with conflict. The logistics for the intensive went smoothly, and was well organised. Catering for thirty-plus people for all our needs, from different contexts, over three solid weeks was quite a difficult task, and the organisers (PTC, PCP, and GPP) did a fantastic job! Faafetai!

A suggestion made to the organisers, is that more theological insights (in relation to WK2 – Trauma healing) needs to be addressed. It became apparent that the Talatala in the group all added this dimension when the dialogue led to the question of – how does one respond in faith, as a Christian, to all the trauma happening in one's life? AP was also able to share many of the teachings and methods taught in our course PT303 (Religion, Trauma, and Coping) that is taught here at MTC.

All participants were given folders (the size of our Fono Tele folders) that contains all our reading literature, together with documentation from the three weeks. A lot of this material is taken from the Eastern Mennonite University in America, the institution where the facilitators for the intensive attended <http://www.emu.edu>. These folders are available for viewing upon request.

As a group we climbed the Sand dunes at Sigatoka (3hr bus trip from PTC), and visited and experienced daily life in a Fijian village (Kulukulu).

Way Forward

There are many benefits to this intensive, and one thing is clear – compared to our Pacific neighbours, Samoa is relatively fortunate not to have Open Conflict in our midst (where we see the results and the roots of conflict- for eg national violence, civil wars, coups). However, through strenuous conflict analysis, Samoa arguably has many cases of Latent Conflict (under-surface, but all is boiling up to explode) that needs to be addressed. So when we are aware of this, we will know how to react and deal with the conflict. The proposal forward also is to introduce a subject into the MTC Curriculum for Conflict Analysis, Transformation, and Resolution. Such a course can be offered to both Aoao, and also through Malua Bible School.

Acknowledgement

It was a true blessing to be part of this three week training intensive. Although it was extremely difficult to be away from our families and the Malua community for such a period, the teachings and insights gained will no doubt benefit the ministers of our church whom we are developing and nurturing from Malua. For this reason, in doing God's ministry, it was definitely worth the sacrifice away from our families and Malua. For this we must thank the Principal, Vice-Principal and the Faculty of MTC for allowing us both the opportunity to experience and learn from this intensive. We thank you for sending us, for praying for us, for caring for our families in our absence, and for your support in many ways. We also thank the CCCS for providing many of the funds required to attend such a gathering.

May God's blessings be upon you all, upon all our fellow participants, and the organisers PTC, PCP and GPP.

May God bless the work that thirty-four Pacific Peacebuilders are now trained and equipped to do, to bring about peace to our people in all parts of the Pacific.

Best Wishes Malua

A Merry Xmas to you dear,
Best wishes for a bright New Year.
May all your past, be pleasant memories,
May all your days be a Golden Jubilee

My thoughts are with you near or far,
My days are with you where-ever you are.
I wish you all the best and a bright New Year,
A Merry Xmas to you dear.

Le Kerisimasi mo i tatou,
Faapea ma le Tausaga Fou.
Mea ua tuanai aua le faagaloina,
Ia fai ma auro e faatauaina.

Ia avea a'u ma ou fatu,
Aso uma ma aso ua alu.
Ia manua le Kerisimasi ma le Tausaga Fou,
Iesu Keriso o le Lokou.

A PLACE OF TRANSFORMATION

When we were younger we were asked what we wanted to be in the future. Some of us said, "Doctor," some said, "Lawyer" and hopefully some of us said "Faifeau."

But four years in Malua does not point you to a destination. Though you may learn plenty of information, it is really a place of transformation.

It is a time for learning. To always be on time, to always attend Church, to never sleep in class, to be better students and to be better people.

A time where God transforms us, to be what He wants us to be.

Maybe I may never become a Faifeau one day,
all I know is I will enter the future as a transformed person. Faafetai Alavā

ACADEMIC CORNER

Bachelor of Divinity Thesis and Bachelor of Theology research papers 2011

This year there was a significant increase in all students writing research papers for the Bachelor of Theology (BTh) program. This is not a compulsory requirement for this program unlike the Bachelor of Divinity (BD) students where all students are required to write a thesis. The lecturers were busy throughout the year assisting students through personal contact and also guided seminars in the different departments. All students successfully completed the theses and research papers to the great delight of the lecturers and students. The college has benefited greatly from the wealth of knowledge that these students contributed for the further development of theological and biblical thinking in Malua, Samoa and the world. All of the theses and research papers are now bound and housed at the Malua Theological College Library. Below is a summary of all the different papers in the different departments.

OLD TESTAMENT DEPARTMENT

Apineru Fasavalu (BTh) - Hope: The Dialogue between Daniel 7 and Revelation 13 the paper looks at the concept of "hope" found in the two texts above and it offers a reflection within the immediate local context to seek useful tools for the ministry and counselling. The paper asks questions such as, where is God in times of tragedy. Why do we suffer and how we can use "hope" to move on?

Atapana Pati (BTh) - A cross-cultural reading O le fale o Asomuanasi'i i le mauga in 2 Samuel 7.1-17 analyses relationships between culture and Gospel with the particular focus on the analogy of David's house as is found in the passage above. It uses this passage to shed light on the Samoan alagaupu O le fale o Asomuanasi'i i le mauga. It questions whether the "houses" are matter inheritance or the result of landlessness and exile?

Howard Leiataua (BD) - Naboth and Sogi in dialogue towards a spirituality of resistance: A subaltern reading of 1 Kings 21:1-16, challenges the marginalisation of oppressed communities caused by those in power. It takes in consideration the present issue of the land dispute between the people of Sogi and the Government of Samoa. The paper is written in light of the Naboth story in 1 Kings 21:1-16. It raises the question of what our role is as modern Christians to speak out against injustice of the oppressed.

Patrick Ah Poe (BTh) - Research into the inseparable facets in Lamentations 5: LexTalion, Suffering and Hope. The paper explores the contemporary meaning of the Old Testament law of 'an eye for an eye' also known as the lex talionis. It raises questions into the inconsistency of that law when the punishment does not suit the crime and the victim/s suffers unbearable pain. Lamentations 5 is used as an example to shed light on where the crime does not suit the punishment such as the suffering of Israel in their 'punishment' by God for their sins.

Tanielu Lava (BTh) - Jumping the queue, a cross cultural reading of Genesis 27 and the Matai selection in Samoa this paper uses Genesis 27 as a biblical foundation to make a comparison with the Samoan concept of Matai selection. According to Tanielu the traditional ways of choosing Matai has changed and people can now "jump the queue" through the giving of substantial amounts of money. This new way of choosing matai's according to Tanielu challenges the future development of the Samoan family.

THEOLOGY DEPARTMENT

Reupena Maulolo (BD) - A pre-Christian Samoan way of life which leads humanity to reconciliation. The paper is a theological discussion on the ancient Samoan ritual of Ifoga and discusses a change of people's attitudes and understanding of repentance since the arrival of the missionaries. It questions the most appropriate modes of "repentance" in this day and age in Samoa?

Faafetai Aiava (BTh) - Talking God through the language of Gaming: A reinterpretation of Bingo from the perspective of the Eucharist. This paper looks at fundraising within the church namely the game of bingo which is widely used as a form of fundraising within the church. Faafetai takes this game and theologically looks at the parallels and connections within the perspective of the Eucharist. It also looks psychologically at the motivations behind the desire to gamble and discusses the implications this has on the gambler.

Setefano Logovi'i (BTh) - O le Fa'afeagaiga: The Sacred one of God. This is a theological discussion on the concept of the faafeagaiga and the relationship between the local CCCS churches and their ministers. It raises questions on the sacredness of the faafeagaiga in the CCCS and historically traces the concept to discover its historical and cultural roots.

NEW TESTAMENT

Semikueva Faatoafe (BD) - Remnants of Fire in Lealatele Savaii (Toega o le Afi) as a Symbol of Continuity: Elected by the Grace of God. Faatoafe provides an emotional response to the stigmatized labeling of his people by Samoans as "Remnant of Fire" (Toega o le Afi). Faatoafe believes logic will prevail as he attempts to show that the Volcanic lava flow was actually an act of God, with a missionary purpose to extend and strengthen the mission of the Church, with specific reference to the Roman Catholic Church.

Falani Tofilau (BTh) - A Chiastic Reading of 1 Corinthians 5:1-13: Reflection on the Role of the 'Aiga' and the Parish regarding Questionable Authority. Tofilau challenges the Congregational Christian Church of Samoa today to fulfill its duty according to Jesus Christ, and 'weed' out and remove people who have committed sinful and immoral acts. Basing his thesis on a chiastic reading of 1 Corinthians 5:1-13, Tofilau explores the similarities and differences, between the Apostle Paul's challenge to the Church in Corinth about sexual immorality, and the responsibilities of the CCCS.

Tanuri Pesaleli (BTh) - The Cost of Following Jesus (Mark 8:34-38): A Challenge to EFKS Parishioners and their Commitment to the Church. Pesaleli notes the similarities between the notion of being a 'disciple' and a 'follower' of Jesus. Focusing on Mark 8:34-38 Pesaleli challenges EFKS Parishioners to be more appreciative of the past for the purposes of adapting to a sacrificial way of life, as promoted in Mark's portrayal of Jesus.

PRACTICAL THEOLOGY

Isaia Kalepo (BTh) - Tali i Lagi se Ao o lou Malo: Is Samoa being faithful to the Nafanua Prophecy? Kalepo addresses the social, economic and political changes that have taken place in Samoa since the arrival of Christianity and attempts to provide a critical response to his central concern of whether Samoa has remained faithful to the Nafanua prophecy.

Taipisia Lauvi Fiti (BTh) - The Role of the Faifeau of the Congregational Christian Church Samoa, in the process of Healing for the Bereaved following a Sudden Death. Fiti researches the impacts of sudden death on the community of the CCCS and seeks to provide assistance and guidelines for Faifeau who are wanting to provide effective ministry for the grieving and bereaved.

HISTORY

Sa'uleonene Tanoi (BTh) - Mission in the Samoan Way: The impact of fa'aSamoa on the LMS Samoan Missions to the Western Pacific 1839-1930. This paper looks at the impact of Samoan culture in the process of evangelization of the Western Pacific. Over 400 Samoan missionaries served the LMS in their quest to spread the gospel. In their work, the Samoan missionaries applied their own interpretation of Christianity, known as Kerisiano Fa'a-Samoa (Samoan Christianity). This had a grave impact and lasting influence upon the people they served.

Tavita Faletagoloa (BTh) - History of the origin of the CCCS in the USA. The research traces the origin and the establishment of the first CCCS in San Diego. The establishment of this church was an attempt by Samoan migrants to be able to share their culture, traditions and come together and worship as a church. The paper discusses and reflects the remarkable story of their faith and attitudes towards serving God and it remains an inspiration for generations to come.
