Tuuina i lalo o le Fale Iupeli

"In all of Malua this Fale Iupeli was the one place where we felt closest to God and the place that holds Happiness over Sadness.. Love over Anger...and Forgiveness over Hatred... Our children's spiritual lives were nurtured in this very church and it is all these memories which made me sad today because this special church has been my home ... I can't thank God enough for giving us the opportunity to worship Him in the Jubilee Hall and be part of the Malua community. Tomorrow the Process of putting it down will begin, it will be sad but I am also happy that it will be replaced with a bigger and a better House for The Lord. I will always cherish the good memories of this place, and the many happy memories it held...."

Bachelor of Divinity (BD) Thesis and Bachelor of Theology (BTh) Papers for 2013

Malua Theological College has always been enriched by the high level of original work that is carried out by our final year students. This year is no different. We have had four first degrees students writing a BD thesis and three students doing BTh papers. The research work done by these students has not only contributed to developing further the disciplines of Biblical Studies, Church History and Theology/Pastoral in the college, they also highlight the critical intersection of Christian faith and Christian living both in Samoa and overseas. This year's theses and research papers can be found in the Malua Library. A list of thesis writers and a short summary of their various topics are as follows:

Bachelor of Divinity (BD)

Old Testament Studies

Karanita Petaia (BD): Is Qoheleth's Time Poem A 'Filiga-O-Motuga-Afa'? In using a Postcolonial reading Petaia's thesis attempts to explain the motive(s) behind Qoheleth's writing and why scholars continue to try to make sense of his negative tone. Petaia uses this reading of Qoheleth to draw attention to some of the critical social, political and economic issues that Samoa is facing today.

New Testament Studies

Jezza Agadio (BD): Be Imitators of GOD: A Postcolonial Reading of Ephesians 5:1-5 Through the Lens of Mimicry. Agadio interprets Ephesians 5:1-5, through a Postcolonial lens, and how this can speak into the current social, political and religious situation in Nauru.

Theology

Apela Ah Him (BD): A Theological Re-interpretation of the Great Commission in Matthew 28: 16-20 In light of the Samoan ritual – Ui le Ula. Ah Him makes a contextual theological comparison between the New Testament theme of the Great Commission in Matthew with the Samoan ritual of bestowing a title – Ui le Ula.

Church History

Ionatana Te'o (BD): The Origins and Early Development of the Congregational Church of Jesus (CCJS) from the London Missionary Society (LMS) Samoa Church. Te'o's thesis attempts to uncover and piece together the historical origins and early development of the CCJS with a specific focus on the LMS Apia parish and the complex politics that occurred at both the ecclesiastical and social levels

Bachelor of Theology (BTheo)

Theology

Fagaliimoaofua Pesaleli (BTh): Post Code Christology –An Australian Samoan Perspective. Pesaleli uses a Western concept of identifying location (area code/postcode) to construct a diasporic Christology for Australian Samoan migrants living overseas.

Church History

Isamaeli Poasa (BTh): Church and State. (1961-2000): Congregational Christian Church Samoa (CCCS) and its relationship with the Laity. This thesis examines the major issues and policies of the CCCS which led to the restriction of the laity's role in the leadership of the church. The paper identifies the reasons as to why the laity were such an integral part of the CCCS before independence. Yet by 1990 the influence of the laity upon the decision making policies of the church were severely curtailed

Practical Theology

Pati Crichton (BTh): 'Same-Sex Marriage' and the Congregational Christian Church Samoa (CCCS): A Church Ministry Perspective. Crichton's paper looks at the controversial issue of 'Same-sex Marriage' from a Congregational Christian Church Samoa perspective and its possible impact on the CCCS in particular the way pastoral ministry is conducted.
